

Opposes A Global War Risk

Gen. Bradley Sees Russia As Chief Threat As To World Peace

WASHINGTON, May 15—(P)—The Senate inquiry on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur recessed at 12:22 p. m. (EST) today until 9 a. m. (EST) tomorrow. Gen. Omar Bradley will return for additional testimony then.

WASHINGTON, May 15—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today the MacArthur strategy of hitting at Red China would (1) "involve us in the wrong war" with "the wrong enemy," and (2) risk a global "show down" with Russia when the United States is not prepared for it.

Further, Bradley told inquiring senators, the proposals urged by Gen. Douglas MacArthur wouldn't win the Korean war and might necessitate sending ground forces into China "to get decisive results."

On the other hand, Bradley said, the administration policy of fighting a limited war in Korea may cause the Communists to sue for peace "if we can punish the Chinese severely enough," and run the least risk of touching off a world conflict.

But, he said, "no one is going to promise you or the country that we are going to get decisive results" in Korea.

Bradley is chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, the nation's top military planning agency. He testified at hearings by the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees on the dismissal of General MacArthur from his Far Eastern commands.

Bradley was questioned for a little over three hours, then the hearings were recessed for the day. He will return to the witness chair tomorrow.

Soviets Chief Threat
Aligning himself flatly against MacArthur's proposals, Bradley said Russia—not Red China—is the big threat to world peace. And, he declared, for the United States to adopt MacArthur's strategy would "probably delight the Kremlin more than anything else we could do."

Senator Connally (D-Tex) asked whether, if MacArthur's plans were adopted, it would "almost inevitably follow that at some time in the future we would have to put ground troops on Chinese soil?"

"To get decisive results, in my opinion, you would," Bradley replied.

"In other words, if you go into an all-out war with China, I think you would have to do something like the Japanese did. Go in and try to get a decision. I do not believe you could get a decision."

Was Killed In Auto Accident

Alfred Birdsong, 78, life-long resident of Moniteau county, was fatally injured about 9:30 a. m. today, in an accident on the one-way bridge on Highway 87, two miles south of California.

He was injured in some manner by a Pevelly Dairy Co. truck driven by Charles L. Burns, 28, of route 3, Lebanon.

According to information furnished State Highway Trooper Harold Priess, Mr. Birdsong was either fishing from and standing at the edge of one side of the bridge when the truck passed. Burns reported that he saw the man, but did not know he had struck him until he noticed in the rear vision mirror on his truck, Mr. Birdsong lying in the road. He stopped and gave what aid he could.

It was believed Mr. Birdsong, who did not see or hear too well, had several fishing poles under his arm. It was thought that as the truck passed, Mr. Birdsong in some manner turned and the poles caught the truck, throwing him into the side of the vehicle.

Mr. Birdsong was taken to the Latham Sanitarium where he was found to be suffering from a fractured right hip, severe cut on the top of his head, and suffering from shock. He died about an hour after arriving at the sanitarium.

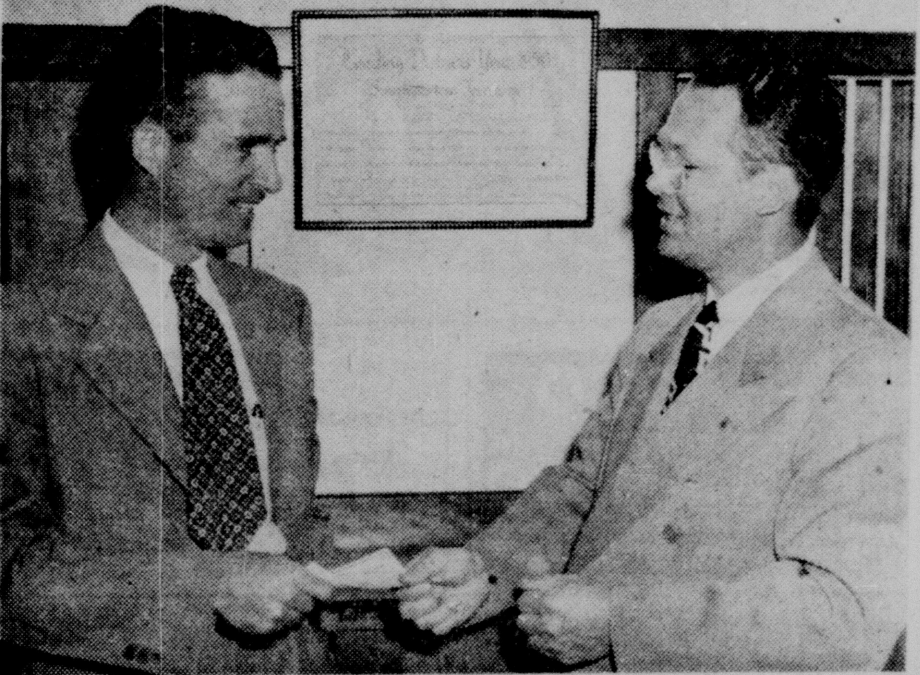

The one-way bridge is over what is known as Burris Fork, and is the second bridge south of California.

Courtesy Awards To Mrs. Stockton and E. L. Brown

Mrs. Helen Stockton, wife of Harry L. Stockton, 501 West Seventh, and Edgar L. Brown, 905 South Carr, both native Sedalians, were the winners of the Chamber of Commerce Courtesy Awards for this quarter.

Mrs. Stockton, who is the former Helen Imhauser, has been employed at the State Fair Floral company for the past four years. Born and reared in Sedalia, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Imhauser, route 4, is a graduate of Smith-Cotton high school and worked at the Public Loan corporation for five and one-half years before going to the State Fair Floral company. She was married to Mr. Stockton nine years ago. Mr. Stockton is employed at the Acme Cleaners.

Mr. Brown, who is with the Metropolitan Insurance company, is married and has three children, Roger, five and one-half years old, Martha, two and one-half years old, and Gayle, 17 months.

Former Pilot In Navy
He was born and reared in Sedalia, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Brown, 1212 West Second. After his graduation from Smith-Cotton high school and Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg, he served four years, from late 1941 through 1945, as a pilot in the navy. Receiving his honorable discharge from the service Mr. Brown then went to Joplin where he was a teacher of music in the public school system in that city for two and one-half years. He then returned to Sedalia where he accepted a position with the Metropolitan Insurance company.

Mr. Brown was married in 1943 to Miss Marjorie Waddell of Warrensburg. Since returning to Sedalia Mr. Brown has taken an active part in church and civic affairs. He is choir director at the First Methodist church, is a member of the Lions club board, is secretary-treasurer of the Underwriters, professional group; chairman of the organization and extension of the Boy Scouts and is a member of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

He believes that all the credit in winning the award does not belong to him but the fact that people in Sedalia are so nice to work with, it is easy to be courteous.

Mrs. Stockton and Mr. Brown were selected by a secret committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce for their friendliness and their willingness to serve their customers. Checks were presented to them by Chester A. Brown, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon.

Ones Taken On Missouri Senate Were Confiscated
JEFFERSON CITY, May 15—(P)—Confiscation of a librarian's notes in the Senate gallery yesterday erupted in an angry exchange on the Senate floor today.

Sen. C. R. Hawkins (R) of Brumley tried to have the notes of Miss Helen Miller returned to her with a Senate apology.

"I can't believe the Senate wants a citizen subjected to this humiliation," he said.

But Sen. Richard J. Chamier (D) of Moberly succeeded in getting Hawkins' resolution sidetracked. On a voice vote the Senate decided it should go to a committee for study.

Often that is the death march for a resolution but Chamier promised he would not object to having the resolution brought up again on the floor after the Rules committee considers it.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 15—(P)—You can't take notes in the Missouri Senate gallery. It seems to make the senators nervous.

Sen. Richard J. Chamier (D) of Moberly, majority floor leader, said the Senate doesn't want "unauthorized" persons taking notes on Senate proceedings. He said they might try to put "heat" on senators for what they say in debate.

That was the explanation he offered reporters who asked him why the Senate doorkeeper, James Dunnivant, confiscated the notes of Miss Helen Miller. She had been sitting in the gallery behind Chamier, taking notes during debate of a library bill.

She is Jefferson City and Cole county librarian and has been asked to leave the gallery.

Tax Drafting Group Votes A Hoist In Levy

Still Far Short Of Ten Billion Said Needed

WASHINGTON, May 15—(P)—The House Ways and Means committee voted today to raise the federal gasoline tax from 1 1/2 cents to 2 cents a gallon.

The move, counted on to bring in an additional $210,000,000 revenue, reversed the committee's decision yesterday against boosting the tax.

The tax drafting group also voted to raise the annual levy on bowling alleys and pool tables from $20 a unit to $25, for a $1,000,000 revenue increase.

But the tax-writers voted to cut the tax rate on domestic telegrams from 25 per cent, for an estimated $8,000,000 decrease.

The committee rejected a proposed penny-a-bottle levy on soft drinks, and a 20 per cent manufacturers' tax on candy and chewing gum.

The committee now has run its potential additional collections from various excise taxes to $1,063,000,000 and the estimated added take in all kinds of taxes to $6,528,000,000. President Truman asked for $10,000,000,000 additional this year.

Anxious For Full Sum
Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told a news conference today he still is hopeful that congress will provide the full $10,000,000,000 which he has said is needed to keep the government on a pay-as-you-go basis. He did not comment on specific proposals.

The soft drinks tax rejected today would have brought in an additional $280,000,000 annually. That on candy and chewing gum would have amounted to $230,000,000.

Also turned down was a proposal to increase the tax on local telephone service from 15 to 20 per cent.

The committee decided against applying the cabaret tax to ballrooms where refreshments are only incidental.

When the committee recessed until tomorrow, members were discussing the possibility of taxing used car sales. No rates were mentioned.

There seemed a possibility the committee will complete its tentative decisions on the tax bill tomorrow.

Belief Death Toll Be Five

Compartment Of Valcour Will Be Searched

NORFOLK, Va., May 15—(P)—A fire-ravaged seaplane tender, Valcour, began off-loading gasoline today preparatory to a search of fume-filled below decks spaces for the ship's four missing men.

Atlantic fleet headquarters, receiving downward its previously announced casualty toll, in yesterday's collision between the Valcour and the collier Thomas Tracy, said this afternoon the count now stands at:

One known dead, four missing and presumed dead and 18 hospitalized.

A fleet spokesman said the count this afternoon showed: Officers and men aboard at time of collision—186.

Still aboard Calcutt—19. In hospitals and dispensaries—18.

Missing—4. Known dead—1. Fleet headquarters explained that its earlier announcement of 11 known dead was based on "an estimate" that nine bodies were in the engine room. The engine room has not been entered because of the presence of gasoline barrels, however, and a spokesman said no bodies had been seen there.

It had been planned to send salvage experts into the four spaces early today, but it was decided, a spokesman said, to postpone such action until after the ship had unloaded her gasoline and ammunition.

May Enter Room Today
Attempts to get into the engine room and three other spaces probably will be made late today. Salvage workers have been kept out of these compartments because of the presence of high octane gasoline fumes.

Before the spaces can be entered (Please turn to page 4, Col. 6)

Power Failure For Brief Period

A large generator at the Missouri Public Service Corp., light plant, Ingram and Broadway, failed shortly after 8:00 a. m. today causing a disturbance of electrical service in Sedalia for approximately 20 minutes, in various sections of the city. Service was restored quickly without too much inconvenience to customers.

William Rich, manager of the company in Sedalia, stated the large generator lost circulation of water causing it to stop. The spare units at the plant were quickly put into motion and the various electrical circuits were shifted over to them.

Necessary repairs were made on the large generator and it was soon back into service with the shifting of the electrical units.

Plan Uniform Flags Display

Post 5741, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has announced its drive for again uniformly displaying the American flag in front of all Sedalia business houses.

Abe Silverman has been appointed "Chief Flag Raiser" and the drive is planned to start on Armed Services Day, which will be Wednesday, May 16, and will last one week. This will allow ample time for installation of holders and delivery of the flags and accessories from an eastern manufacturer for their display on Flag Day, Thursday, June 14. They will be purchased through a local representative.

Appropriate facilities for securing flag poles to the parking meters in the downtown section of the town and such holders as may be needed in other localities. The flags are of the finest quality of durable cotton, hunting with double stitched stripes and sewed stars, and exceeds government specifications. They measure three by five feet and are made to withstand severe weather conditions with colors guaranteed fast. They will be flown from 12 foot poles which will keep them above pedestrians and parked cars.

The flags may be purchased by individuals through the V. F. W. at less than they could be purchased individually and in this way may be displayed uniformly on occasions when the flag should be displayed. One of these flags is on display on South Ohio.

Ends Life On Wife's Death

Obsessed With Belief It Was Caused By Him

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 15—(P)—A railroad brakeman killed himself with a shotgun blast in the mistaken belief he had caused the death of his wife.

Dead were Milton F. Buedinger, 45, and his wife, Helen, 46.

The coroner's office said she apparently died of a heart attack. Friends found Mrs. Buedinger dead on the kitchen floor yesterday. There was no indication of violence.

Mrs. Earl Tucker said Buedinger told them "I think I've killed Helen."

He walked into a bedroom and shot himself in the head.

Neighbors said the Buedingers, who came here from Missouri four years ago, had seemed happy. Mrs. Buedinger suffered from fainting spells.

A note signed by Buedinger read: "My last will and testament. I think I have killed my wife and am about to kill myself. All my possessions go to my sister, Lonnetta Buedinger of Sedalia, Mo. Our dog Patty is to be taken care of for her natural life, please."

Miss Lonnetta C. Buedinger, his sister, residing at 720 South Massachusetts, received word of the death of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Buedinger, today. Miss Buedinger was only notified of the deaths and received no particulars of the incident.

Court Test For Anti-Strike Law

JEFFERSON CITY, May 15—(P)—Missouri's utility anti-strike law will get a supreme court testing.

The state's highest court decided to take jurisdiction of a suit brought by the State Board of Mediation, the agency that administers the law.

Basically, the court will decide whether the Missouri law is constitutional. In February, the supreme court of the United States ruled against a somewhat similar Wisconsin act.

The suit asks the court to decide also: Should the state comptroller, Elmer Pigg, have paid the agency's April bills despite an opinion by Attorney General J. E. T. Taylor that the act was unconstitutional?

The mediation board asked Taylor to bring the test suit. He refused. He said he was convinced the law was not valid. He suggested the board bring its own court test.

Ground Warfare In Asia 'Isn't For Us' Says Officer

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(P)—Will America be forced to fight a great land war in Asia—in the near or far future?

It is the belief of many army ground commanders in Korea that the American army should avoid an all-out war in that area if it is at all possible to do so.

"The big lesson we have learned here," one veteran officer told me, "is not to get too deeply involved in this part of the world in ground warfare. It isn't for us."

His argument was that the continent of Asia favored the enemy method of infantry battle and hindered ours. It gives the other side every advantage. It holds none for us.

This officer—he had held a high staff rank in the European war—felt that to win an Asiatic victory through land battles would cost more blood than the American nation could spend.

Too Much Landscape
"It would bleed us dry," he said. "The enemy has too much potential manpower and too much landscape. Taking landscape doesn't win a war—as Napoleon and Hitler found out in their marches on Moscow. You have to destroy the enemy, his industry and his ability to resist." He pointed out that Europe's

Ellison Again Chief Justice

JEFFERSON CITY, May 15—(P)—It's Chief Justice George Robb Ellison of the Missouri Supreme Court again.

Judge Ellison was elected to head the seven-judge court for the third time yesterday. He's been on the bench a little over 20 years.

He succeeds Judge Laurence M. Hyde as chief justice. In recent years, Missouri's chief justices have stepped down after about 17 months as the court's main goal. That gives each of the seven judges a turn as chief justice during their ten-year terms.

Judge Ellison is expected to return from Rochester, Minn., late this week. He went there for a physical checkup and was found in good shape, his office reported.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 15—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said last night he wouldn't refuse the presidential nomination if a majority of the Republicans want him.

Sporadic Clashes Along Rainswept Front But No Heavy Fighting

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, May 15—(P)—Chinese Communist troops were reported tonight to be crossing two rivers on the rainy central Korean front around Chunchon in front of strong U. S. positions.

An American officer, however, said flatly that the expected Chinese offensive had not begun, a pooled field dispatch reported.

The dispatch said unknown numbers of Chinese Reds crossed the Pukhan river, southwest of Chunchon and reached high ground just south of the river.

Other Communists have crossed the Choyang, north-east of Chunchon, and moved to the southeast of that ruined city, where clashes with American troops were reported.

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, May 15—(P)—Rain-drenched Chinese troops plodded south through central Korean mud today in their buildup for a new offensive.

Spearheads of a growing Red force facing the center of the 100 mile United Nations line were reported 12 miles south of the 38th parallel.

United Nations patrols spotted Communists in units of 500 or 600 slogging through the hills east of Kapyong. The U. S. Eighth Army did not indicate how close they were to U. N. lines.

But no fighting was reported from this area. Clashes elsewhere on the rainswept battle line were between groups of 100 or 200.

The Eighth Army said the Reds east of Kapyong were south of the Pukhan river. This would put them 35 to 40 miles north of Seoul and roughly 15 miles northwest of Hongchon, U. N. base on the central front.

An allied officer said well-protected U. N. positions and restless patrols probable would insure about 24 hours warning before the Chinese hit in strength.

May Speed Up Assault

A central front briefing officer said the weather probably would speed up the expected Red offensive about two days. The strike generally is expected next week.

"This is their meat," one officer commented. "The Chinese can do a lot of moving under these clouds without being seen from the air. They are undoubtedly taking advantage of it."

B-29s were out Tuesday despite heavy weather. They bombed the Sariwon supply center, above the western front, by rain.

On the western front 10 allied soldiers—eight Americans and two Turks—returned to their own lines after being released by Chinese. They were taken prisoner April 25 in the Reds' first spring offensive. AP Correspondent John Randolph said all told of comparatively good treatment by their captors. They said they were told never again to fight the Chinese, and released.

Rain washed out most fighting Tuesday. Heavy artillery was directed on Red forces of undetermined size 15 miles east of Chunchon. The Reds apparently had widened their bridgehead south of the Choyang river in this area.

No Trace Of Reds

But a tank patrol entered Chunchon again without finding trace of the Reds. Chunchon is about five miles north of the Kapyong peninsula.

Air Force Chiefs Warn Of Possible Attack From Siberia

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—General Hoyt Vandenberg, the nation's No. 1 airman, has sounded a private warning during talks inside the Pentagon building that the worst threat to American cities is not from Europe but Siberia.

This is a flat contradiction of General MacArthur's contention that Russia can no longer wage war against the United States from Siberia.

"We have heard quite often that the defense of western Europe is the defense of the United States," Vandenberg warned. "Now that is true in some phases, but it surely isn't true of air power, because from bases in Siberia, the Russians can cover with present Soviet bombers a much greater area than can be covered today from western Europe."

Undersecretary of Air John McCone, speaking to the same private group, frankly admitted that it would be impossible to prevent enemy airplanes from hitting American cities.

"Our air defense system, even when completed," he said, "will be far from perfect. If an enemy attack is launched against this country, many bombers will be shot down, but a great many will get through."

General Vandenberg, comparing Russian and American air strength, gave an off-the-cuff estimate that the United States is 100 to 20 better at strategic bombing. "The Russians are building up a fleet of long-range bombers," he reported. "The TU-4, which is the mainstay of their strategic air power, is at present in quite considerable quantities."

Russian Pilots Are Good

"They are working on their instrument flying. They are working on their night flying. They are working on their bombing," he continued. "Today, I would say as far as relative efficiency between their strategic knowledge and effort and competency with ours, is about a ratio of 20 to 100. However, I think that is no cause for us to be complacent, because they certainly are working, and they certainly have available to them most of the data on which ours is based."

Commenting on Russian pilots, Vandenberg added: "Individually, they are fine fliers. Temperamentally, they are good airmen. Technically, the Russian air force of today has the benefit of a great many of the German scientists who were captured by the Russians and who are now working for them. . . . However, the training of our airmen in their gunnery and their night flying and their blind flying and their ability to bomb through overcasts, as far as we know—and we are reasonably sure—is technically much more competent than the Russians."

Both Vandenberg and McCone warned that the air force must build up to 95 groups, that this goal will not be reached until July, 1952, and that it will take still another year to bring the equipment up to date.

"I think the United States air force today is well trained and carries a helluva wallop," declared Vandenberg. "At the same time, until we get 95 groups or more, I wouldn't want to say that the air force is anywhere near the wallop that the people of the United States ought to demand."

Flowers For Economy

If any member of the House Appropriations committee can squeeze a nickel tighter than GOP Congressman John Taber of New York, it is his opposite number, Democratic Chairman Clarence Cannon of Missouri.

Cannon has a fierce aversion to extravagance in any form, whether personal or with the taxpayers' money. Committee colleagues were even dubious about sending him flowers while he was in the hospital recently.

However, the Missourian was properly thankful when he returned to work.

"If you're determined to waste money, you might as well waste it on me," Cannon told his committee. "Besides, I made good use of those flowers by passing them around. It put me in solid with the nurses."

Loans to Steel Companies

At the same time that the Defense Production Administration is under Congressional fire for giving away too much money to the big corporations, a defense production spokesman has secretly asked Congress for another billion dollars to give away in the next two months. He also hinted that he may be back to ask for still another $400 million before the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

The spokesman, Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Farrell, appeared behind closed doors of the Senate Appropriations committee. The size of his request can be judged by the fact that DPA has been living on a total of $600 million since it was formed last September.

The extra billion is wanted for loans to steel companies which have already been granted millions in tax reductions. These loans, added to the tax reductions, will pay for building new steel plants. Thus, the taxpayers will shoulder not only most of the tax burden but take most of the risk, for steel companies which will collect a lot of gravy on huge defense orders.

Satellite Troops to Korea

The American embassy in Moscow has cabled the State Department the rather ominous news that Russia is mobilizing about a dozen international battalions of volunteers to fight in Korea. These battalions are being enlisted from the satellite countries—Hungary, Poland, Bulgaria, Rumania—and Russian strategy apparently is not so much to reinforce the Chinese but to train satellite troops in modern warfare.

The Russian general staff appears to be worried that while fifteen United Nations are getting valuable battle experience in Korea, the satellite armies are getting soft. So token battalions from the satellites will be sent to Korea to get toughened up.

Washington Pipeline

President Truman has privately asked General Bradley to serve another two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. His term expires . . . Italy has asked permission to send a contingent of soldiers to Korea to fight alongside the United Nations even though not a member of the U. N. . . . While certain senators clamor to divert American arms from Korea to Chiang Kai-shek's armies on Formosa, General Ridgway still hasn't enough arms to spare for the South Korean home guard. The South Korean home guard has converted most of their villages into medieval forts, but they have nothing but bare fists to defend themselves from guerrilla attacks.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Bell Hutchinson, chairman of the executive committee conducting the good roads campaign in Pettis county, is able to be out on crutches after a recent injury to his left leg when kicked by a horse.

During the past few weeks the general hospital has been fixed up with the various rooms repainted and papered. It can accommodate about 12 patients.

The freight car repair shops of the Missouri Pacific, shut down the past four months have reopened and many of the men formerly employed there have returned to their old positions.

Charles H. Whisman, a former Sedalia, now of St. Louis, a member of the state board of barber examiners, was in the city on business.

THE STORY: Lucilla Webb, 37, New York housewife, hears from an out-of-town friend at lunch about remarkable transformations wrought by the Beautiful-You School, a beauty-culture establishment.

II

If Lucilla had met a friend, or even a friendly enemy, on the street that afternoon after leaving Charlotte, and been asked, "Where are you headed for?" she would have said, "Bonwit Teller," without batting an eye. As it happened, she met no one.

And if by an amusing coincidence she happened to pass the Beautiful-You School in the block above Bonwit's, there was no earthly reason why she shouldn't glance at the lavish poster display around the entrance. Merely out of friendly curiosity, of course.

The first set of before and after photographs was in the glass display case beside the door. Before—she's drab!—after—she's dazzling! The blown-up snapshot of a dumpy, smiling little woman whom the caption described with cheerful candor as: "Mrs. Beppinger, a dowdy suburban matron who even looked suburban." The after creature was a tall, pinch-nostrilled young woman with high, sculptured hairdo, wearing a white-sheathed dinner dress. Anybody with a head for figures would almost have sworn that Mrs. Beppinger, no matter how done over, couldn't have grown so tall, and must be on stilts under the white folds.

Almost all of the classroom pictures featured a handsome blonde in a severely chic black dress. This was Mary Meadows, head of the Beautiful-You School.

IT began to sound solid and solid. By now, Lucilla had been drawn into a corridor, like the corridor of any small office building, except that it was delicately perfumed. In between the two elevators was the directory showing that Beautiful-You occupied all four floors above: Two—Divine Angle Room, Hair Salon, Voice Recording; Three—Nurse, Pedicures, Food Bar; Four—Registration Desk, Hall of Mirrors; Five—Rollers, Office of Mary Meadows, Wax Baths. Below this was the most discreet notice of the lot: De-Luxe Daytime Course, Eight Weeks, $260.

Lucilla felt the Healthy Foundation yanked out from under her. "That's fantastic." Yet the very largeness of the figure made one realize this was no fly-by-night, send-$3-in-check-or-money-order scheme. And there was no such sleazy postscript as "If Not Satisfied in Thirty Days, Return Your Body and Money Will Be Refunded." No, it was a cut-and-dried business proposition, stating, by inference, that if one wanted such highly negotiable, gold-edged securities as Health, Beauty and Happiness, one would do well to pay for them.

The elevator nearest her whirled and the door slid open. Lucilla stepped back, feeling as if she'd been caught naked, until astonishment at the vision emerging from the elevator blotted out everything else. If anyone had been caught rather naked, it was the newcomer, yet she couldn't have looked calmer. Cerise-satin trunks and a sleeveless satin blouse resembling a child's panty-waist revealed her extraordinarily beautiful figure. With her short curly hair and young, sweetly wholesome face, the effect was a startling blend of Miss Atlantic City and a Vassar undergraduate. She walked past Lucilla, toward a door at the end of the corridor marked Employees' Lounge, then turned. "Are you looking for the Beautiful-You Registration Desk?" she asked, as casually as one would ask a freshman on campus, "Are you looking for the Biology Lab?"

Lucilla stammered, "Thank you, but I don't really think . . ." Her unfinished sentence floated off in the perfumed air.

"We might have one more vacancy for the spring term. Classes start day after tomorrow."

Lucilla was silent, digesting this. "My name is Miss Willitt, if you'd like to ask for me."

"Miss Willitt," Lucilla repeated. "How did you happen to hear of us?" Miss Willitt asked gently.

Put on the defensive, and needing references to establish herself, Lucilla glommed onto Clarice. Miraculously, she even remembered Clarice's last name—Tomp-kitts.

The girl first looked blank, then radiated pleasure. She clasped her hands between the protruberant portions of her satin panty-waist and exclaimed, "Oh, Miss Tompkitts! She was one of my star pupils. I got an announcement of her wedding, and the dearest photograph of her and her husband."

Lucilla felt the necessity of proving she too was in touch. "He's a big oil man."

Miss Willitt beamed. "I'm so glad, Miss Tompkitts worked so hard in Body Molding. She got one of the top prizes at graduation for the Javaneese Beauty Walk."

Her listener was impressed. "She used to walk like a cr—uh—sort of sideways."

"You're telling me," Miss Willitt muttered. Then she laughed musically. "Well, we all of us have our little faults, don't we?"

Going home was an anti-climax. In the foyer of the apartment, she stopped to glance at the telephone pad, which was blank unless Gretel had used invisible ink. an act Lucilla wouldn't have put past her. "No messages for me?" she called, bending to scratch Sniffles, the sad-eared spaniel, under his chin. Gretel came out of the kitchen. "Nobody called you all day."

She announced, with morbid pleasure, "Not even Mr. Webb."

"Oh, good. I was later than I expected." The cool mistress-of-the-house act never cut any ice with Gretel, but it made Lucilla feel she was at least hiding scars incurred in daily skirmishes. They had had Gretel, or been had by Gretel, ever since Arthur had received his last raise, two years before. She was Bavarian by way of Milwaukee, and not only knew her own mind, but professed to know everybody else's. She was an adequate cook, an overadequate housekeeper, and Hoopy, for some baffling reason, adored her.

Hoopy, said Gretel, had been invited to spend the afternoon at a schoolmate's. . . .

GRETSEL followed Lucilla into the bedroom to complain. "Everybody in the school's got tellyvishun except poor Hoopy, and it's got so she don't hardly come home at all," the implication being that if the Webbs cared for their child, and for the sanctity of the home, they too would have tellyvishun. She forebore saying that she herself would be happy to sit indoors and watch prize fights and roller derbies seven days a week. Lucilla, who had spent an exhaustingly emotional day being a widow, grandmother, schoolmate, potential beauty, and finally a mere housewife, cut Gretel off with, "I'll be in the tub, if anyone wants me."

"Not that you've told me what we'll be having for dinner," Gretel said dully. Lucilla was shocked, or at least felt she ought to be shocked, by her remissness. Goaded herself, she managed to suggest salmon loaf. Gretel listened, then announced she'd already bought veal for wiener schnitzel. "Mr. Webb likes wiener schnitzel."

Lucilla was so annoyed she said, "Even Mr. Webb might get sick of it." This was a dig at nationalist pride, and at Gretel's best dish.

When Gretel was mad, her face didn't flush, but only looked flatter and more doughy, ready to be crimped around the edges and stuck in a hot fire. Lucilla said hurriedly, "How nice the furniture looks! Did you just polish it?"

It was a pointless question, in that no such sop ever appeased Gretel, and besides, the whole place reeked of furniture oil.

Gretel snuffled, a more contemptuous sound than a sniffle, and went back into the kitchen.

SGT. JONES' FLYING TACKLE

It happened at Camp Polk, Louisiana. Sgt. Jones was teaching recruits how to throw hand grenades. Suddenly, one recruit threw wildly and his grenade landed on top of the sandbag shelter protecting the group. Quickly, Sgt. Jones flung the live grenade from the shelter.

But, still exposed, the recruit ran from the grenade. Jones dove after him and, with a flying tackle, knocked the recruit down. Neither was injured when the grenade exploded.

RECOMMENDED FOR HONORS. For his act of bravery, Sgt. Jones has been recommended for the Soldier's Medal, the highest noncombat military decoration.

WHO IS SGT. JONES? He's Sgt. J. T. Jones of Stillwater, Oklahoma—until a few months ago a telephone installer; now serving with the 45th Division.

We're proud of Sgt. Jones and the many telephone men and women now wearing military uniforms. About 2,000 telephone men and women are in the Armed Services and more are being called up every week. In this emergency, as always, telephone people will do their part. They're good citizens. They're good soldiers.

Situation Is Different When Youth Weds Older Woman

A 53-year-old widow with money is thinking of marrying a young man of 28—even though her friends have been quick to point out that it is her money he is interested in.

She is sure that he loves her as much as she loves him and wants to know if it would be wrong for them to marry, considering the wide difference in their ages.

Well, here is what you are up against. Even though the world thinks nothing of an older man's marrying a woman half his age, it takes a sneering attitude toward the woman who marries a much younger man.

Why, it is hard to understand. For it is more natural for a girl to fall in love with a man old enough to be her father, than for a young man to fall in love with a woman old enough to be his mother.

So granting that a man "buys" his young wife, either by the security he can offer her or the luxuries or the sharing of his success, why should it be any worse for a woman to "buy" a young husband, with the security she has to offer? But the world looks at the two situations in an entirely different light. That fact you should face.

Another Difference

And there is still another matter you shouldn't overlook. Men, as a rule, are more egotistical than women. Thus, the older man who marries a young wife doesn't find it too hard to convince himself she married him for no other reason than that he is the most fascinating man she ever met. A smart young wife can, with a little flattery, keep that illusion alive as long as it is to her advantage to do so.

But women aren't usually so sure of themselves. They worry and doubt and mentally match their charms against those of every woman they meet. Remember, if you were married to him for 10 years you would be 63 and he would be 38—the prime of manhood.

So it isn't easy for an older woman to sell herself and stay sold on the idea that she is more attractive to a young man than are younger women. And no young man is going to work as hard to keep an older wife sold on that idea as a young wife would work to keep an older husband's ego inflated.

That is what you'll have to face if you marry a man so much

Ground Warfare In Asia 'Isn't For Us' Says Officer

formidable as the Jap or the German of World War II. I am not at all satisfied that the so-called Chinese 'human sea' mass attacks can destroy a well-supplied, adequately mechanized defender. Nor do I believe that Napoleonic 'mass attack' tactics have replaced again the flexible, thin-line attack of small, coordinated units.

"In other words, one machine-gunner (even if his morale is not of the best) can raise havoc with an attacker who is advancing in mass without adequate artillery and air support."

This officer recalled how American infantry used to beat back Japanese night banzai attacks in the last war and added:

"But then we had the troops to do the job. Units advanced shoulder-to-shoulder all across the enemy island. But in Korea shortage of troops and the terrain make flank security exceedingly difficult, if not impossible. Consequently, an enemy night attack can (and does) penetrate our lines and puts the moral courage of men to a severe test."

This inability to make a shoulder-to-shoulder defense or attack in Korea would be multiplied if American infantry had to fight on continental Asia. That's why many experienced ground commanders believe that if a third world war breaks out the United States should mass its land troops in an area where they are more likely to win at least cost.

Salesman and Wife Become Millionth Stockholders in Bell Telephone System

An automobile salesman and his wife in Saginaw, Michigan, bought with their savings seven shares of American Telephone and Telegraph company stock recently and set a landmark in the history of American business.

Brady Denton, 33, and his wife, Dorothy, are the millionth stockholders of the Bell Telephone system, the first business in the United States to top the million mark in the number of owners. Southwestern Bell, which provides telephone service here, is a part of the Bell system.

The Dentons, a typical American family living in a modest frame house in Saginaw, have three sons. They have never owned stock before, but they invested in the telephone stock because they want their three sons to have a college education. The boys are Brady, 6; Johnny, 3; and Bobby, 4 months.

Has Most Stockholders

"One family out of every 45 in the United States now owns part of the Bell system," T. M. Mullaly, manager for Southwestern Bell, said today in discussing the milestone.

"No other company has half as many stockholders. The number of Bell system owners is 49 times as large as the population of Sedalia," he pointed out. "More than 25,000 Missourians own telephone stock, along with the Dentons of Michigan. Approximately 656,000 shares are owned throughout the state now," Mullaly reported.

"Missouri really benefits twice from this telephone ownership. For one thing, these stockholders receive more than $5,900,000 in yearly dividends, and that money is spent right in the community where the stockholders live," he explained.

"And investment in the telephone system helps Missouri by making it possible for Southwestern Bell to carry out a huge expansion program in the state—a program which in gross additions has cost $131,000,000 since the war," he continued.

Constructive In Sedalia

Sedalia's share in this construction was underlined by Mullaly, who said:

"We've spent an estimated gross amount of $1,010,000 on the Sedalia telephone system in the post-war period in an effort to meet the unprecedented demand for service. That's a big operation. We just couldn't have kept up with Sedalia if it hadn't been for people like the Dentons who have chosen to invest their saving in the telephone business. It's a great vote of confidence in the Bell system when a million people are willing to risk their money in this one industry."

The telephone official said the Dentons purchased their stock through their local bank. It is their first investment in stock, but they plan to buy more—in the Bell system and other businesses—as they build up their savings.

Denton is a veteran of 44 months wartime service in the army. He served at Ie Shima and Okinawa as a member of an engineer construction battalion which built roads, airports, hospitals, and air dumps.

He is an Elk and a Kiwanian and is active in Red Cross and Community Chest work.

Mrs. Denton, a former secretary, is a member of a neighborhood bridge club and is chairman of a group which raises money to send underprivileged girls to summer camp.

Chinese Reds Trudge Soggy Ground For Offensive Buildup

Chinese finally have massed enough strength to force a military decision in Korea. Others said they never could supply a sustained offensive. But all agreed the steady pelting rain favored the Communists.

It shielded Red movements from allied air and ground patrols. Rains cut down the reach of armored task forces, grounded many planes.

The bad weather may speed up the Reds time table, a U. S. Eighth Army officer said.

Communist forward elements still are probing allied units in front of the buildup areas.

The main Red battle forces were massing in the Yanggu area on the eastern front, and north of Chunchon on the central sector.

A third concentration was north of Seoul, former South Korean capital.

There was fighting around Inje, 10 miles east of Yanggu in the eastern sector, and northeast of Uijongbu on the approach to Seoul in the west. And Reds worked to expand a bridgehead south of the Choyang river, between Inje and Chunchon.

Fighting was on a small scale Monday. Nevertheless, an Eighth Army briefing officer said about 1,600 Reds were killed or wounded during the day. Another 75 were taken prisoner, including some deserters.

The stubborn manner in which the Reds held their dug-in positions, and the fact that the U. S. the fact that a second Chinese spring offensive is imminent. Some allied officers speculated it might come in a week.

Some officers held that when the blow comes it will be an all-out offensive intended to drive the U. N. army into the sea. One Eighth Army officer said:

"They have more tanks, more artillery, more reserves, and most important, more airplanes—based in North Korea—than at any time since they entered the war last winter."

But AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported other officers held that the Chinese never would be able to mount a sustained offensive. These officers said the Reds couldn't supply their forces with food and ammunition for more than a week. Without rice and bullets, the Chinese have to fall back to regroup.

Like Marshall, Bradley contended that adopting the MacArthur proposal would change losing some of this country's allies.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) wanted to know whether the State department ever had told Bradley "that some of our allies would run out on us in case we followed the MacArthur recommendations."

No, I don't think we've ever told in any positive terms such as that," Bradley said.

But he said the possibility had been talked over in discussions with State department people.

"I believe it is well known," Bradley said, "that the British have a different policy toward China than we do. The British government has, and they are the principal contributors to the forces in Korea other than ourselves and South Korea."

Says It Not So

Bradley said it was "just not so" that the president, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall "have a policy all their own, and that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been over-riding."

He did not attribute that statement to MacArthur, but MacArthur, when testifying before the senators, said he understood the joint chiefs had endorsed his proposals and he "assumed" they were vetoed by President Truman or Secretary Marshall.

Bradley said, too, the joint chiefs, who are the top military planners for the army, navy and air force, were in a better position than any theater commander to access the risks of world war and the country's military resources.

MacArthur had expressed doubt his hit-at-China proposals would bring on war with Russia, and had declared he believed the country had the strength to meet the Communist threat wherever it appeared.

Opposes A Global War Risk

Connally said he doesn't want "an American army bogging down in China."

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) took Bradley over the question of what the administration strategy promises.

Wiley asked if it were "possible that we may be hurting ourselves under this program more than we are hurting the enemy in Korea."

Bradley: "In my opinion, we are not."

Bradley said American troops in Korea have been doing "pretty well" in destroying the hordes of Chinese Reds thrown against them.

Wiley asked if "decisive results" are in sight under the administration's program of confining the war to Korea.

Bradley replied: "Well, to get decisive results raises many questions. I am not too sure we will get them under our present method. I am not too sure we would get them by expanding the war into Manchuria and China."

"Circumstances, as they develop, will determine whether or not we have to take further steps, and just what steps; but I don't believe anyone is going to promise you for the country that we are going to get decisive results under what we are doing."

Real Program In Mind

Wiley asked if there is "any real program in the minds of the chiefs of staff to end the war."

"Yes, Sir," Bradley replied.

"We think that if we can punish the Chinese severely enough in Korea then we will be in a position, and they will be in an attitude where some kind of an agreement may be reached, and a settlement made."

As did MacArthur and Marshall, Bradley testified behind closed doors that the strategic report of his testimony was given to reporters after first going through the hands of censors so they could cut out anything they thought might damage the national interest if made public.

Like Marshall, Bradley contended that adopting the MacArthur proposal would change losing some of this country's allies.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) wanted to know whether the State department ever had told Bradley "that some of our allies would run out on us in case we followed the MacArthur recommendations."

the ship first will go to the Crane Island naval fuel storage installation to discharge the remaining gasoline of the more than 70,000 gallons aboard when the Valcour and the S. S. Thomas Tracy collided some five miles east of Cape Henry.

The Valcour then will return to the anchorage off the Norfolk naval base and lighters will remove her ammunition. Afterward she will be towed to the Norfolk naval shipyards at Portsmouth.

A gaping hole in the bow and evidence of severe fire damage was found aboard the Tracy when she docked late yesterday under her own power at Newport News. But there were no serious injuries to crewmen.

A court of inquiry composed of three aircraft carrier skippers was named to probe the collision.

The navy said the two ships were headed in the same direction and the Valcour had passed the collier when a steering and power failure jammed the rudder. The tender cut "cross in front of the Tracy and was rammed."

ST. LOUIS, May 15—(P)—Mark C. Steinberg, an investment broker, announced today that he has purchased a note involving the controlling interest in the St. Louis Browns with the idea of helping keep the club in St. Louis.

The broker said the note, purchased from former owner Richard C. Mueckerman of the Browns, is a civic asset. Only four other cities have teams in both leagues.

"I know the DeWitt brothers, who control the situation, prefer the Browns remaining here."

NKC Ends S-C Hopes In Tourney

The Smith-Cotton Tiger baseball team ended its season with a dead thump Monday night at Liberty Park when it fell to the North Kansas City Hornets by a 5-3 score. The loss was the first for the Tigers this year, after winning three straight. It also puts the locals out of the running for a bid to the Missouri State High School Athletic Association's state baseball tourney which is to be held at Sportsman's park in St. Louis.

Both teams collected six hits, but the Hornets took advantage of the breaks while the Bengals were unable to cash-in.

Roof Crumbles In Third

Big Dave Johnson started on the hill for the Tigers and got by the first two innings easily, allowing no hits. In the third the roof began to fall in as Northtown tallied two markers. In the bottom of the fourth the Bengals unloaded one run on a hit and two errors. N.K.C. regained their two-run lead in the top of the fifth on a single by Mischlich and a two-bagger by Larry Perry.

Smith-Cotton, playing in their new suits for the first time, knotted the count in its half of the fifth on a single by Bill "Gabby" McCrary, who stole second; a long triple to left by Bob Shawver, scoring McCrary; and a double down the left-field line by Burton, which scored Shawver. That was all the scoring for the locals, although they threatened in the seventh.

Johnson Leaves In 6th

Johnson, who had given evidence of weakening in the fifth, had a tough break in the sixth as Percival dropped Wedua's pop up in back of second. After that Johnson didn't come close to retiring a batter. Divilbiss doubled, sending Wedua scampering across the plate. Klein then scored Divilbiss with a single to right. That washed-up Johnson, and Bill Arnold took over the S-C mound duties. He promptly retired the side on three ground balls.

Chiefs Sweep Doubleheader Over Sunday

B-J Squad Downs Unionville, 7-1; Edges Brookfield

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs made a clean sweep of a day-night double-header Sunday; they defeated the Unionville Ban Johnson club, 7-1, in the day tilt and edged the Brookfield BJ Lions in the night-cap, 3-10.

Both Unionville and Brookfield are in the northern half of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson loop, the latter was champion last year.

In the Unionville game the locals started fast, connecting for three hits sandwiched with two walks to give them four runs in the first inning. Larry Vilmer got the big blow, a single, driving in two tallies.

Bodenhamer Laces Double

The Chiefs added another in the seventh on Bodenhamer's double and a Unionville error. In the top of the ninth the Chiefs countered two more on two walks and a hit.

Unionville scored their run in the bottom of the fourth on two Sedalia errors.

Bill Brown was on the mound and fanned 12 Unionville batters and allowed but three base-hits. Pearson did the hurling for Unionville and whiffed eight local hitters.

Strong wind hampered the pitchers and made many fly-balls tough to judge in this game.

Inhauser Takes Slab

The Sedalia Chiefs met their 1950-play-off rival, the Brookfield Lions, in the night game at Brookfield, and won 3-1 behind the Joe Inhauser and Jim Bodenhamer. Caldwell gave-up seven safe-blows to the Chiefs. The Sedalia hurlers fanned 15 Brookfield batters while 11 Sedalia's missed third strikes.

Ralph Waters drove in a run in the first inning on a single. The Chiefs made another marker in the third and in the fourth Larry Vilmer lashed out a triple to drive in the third tally. Brookfield scored their lone run in the seventh on a two-base error and two ground-outs.

Manager Inhauser was pleased with the teams showing. His boys gave all indications of fielding another top-flight team. Four Chief hurlers fanned a total of 26 batters in 18 innings.

Jones Slated To Play First Base

ST. LOUIS, May 15—(P)—The question of who's on first, and third, may be answered now by the St. Louis Cardinals.

On first they have Nippy Jones and at third they have Billy Johnson—if everything works right.

Jones, who was quite a boy with the Redbirds two years ago, is coming back from Rochester with a red hot hitting record. Johnson, third base veteran, was acquired yesterday from the Yankees. His batting average with that club, prior to this season, was .275.

It's part of a plan by owner Fred Saigh and manager Marty Marion to add right-hand slugging, which has been a weak point with the Cardinals this season.

"We want to do everything we can to build a pennant contender," said Saigh. "Maybe our problems at first and third are solved."

Marion figured, maybe Saigh was right. And he's going to find out fast.

Both Johnson and Jones will be in the opening lineup against Philadelphia tonight if they arrive in time, Marion said.

Four men have played third base for the Cardinals this year. They were Tommy Glaviano, now an outfielder, Eddie Kazak, peanuts Lowrey and Don Richmond.

Auto Workers To Get Raises

DETROIT, May 15—(P)—Nearly 1,000,000 CIO Auto Workers will get raises of six or seven cents an hour starting June 1, it appeared Monday.

Management and union spokesmen said the cost of living went up enough during the three-month period ended April 15 to give them an additional two or three cents. The government's new consumers price index, to be published in a week or ten days, will determine just how much.

In addition to this boost under escalator clauses in scores of auto industry contracts, virtually all the workers would get a guaranteed four-cent "annual improvement factor" the first of the month. This is to compensate for technological advances and has no relation to the cost of living.

The escalator clauses provide a raise or cut of one cent for each advance or decline of 1.14 in the price index.

The National Wage Stabilization board may have to rule on the raises because a five-cent boost which went into effect March 1 gave the auto workers about the full 10 per cent permissible under wage controls.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15—(P)—Some 1,400 soldiers from every state in the union arrive in San Francisco at noon today, home from the Korean war.

They represent practically every army unit fighting in Korea and they are the first combat troops returning under the Army rotation program to sail through the Golden Gate and dock at San Francisco. A shipload of Marine combat personnel docked here more than a month ago.

Each of the 1,422 soldiers aboard was selected for the return home on the basis of his length of service in Korea.

A colorful and noisy reception is planned as their transport, the Lt. Raymond Beaudoin, passes into San Francisco harbor at 12:30 p. m. (2:30 p. m., EST).

Divorce To Cost Aly Three-Million

NEW YORK, May 15—(P)—Rita Hayworth has decided to divorce Aly Khan, her lawyer said and will ask a $3,000,000 trust fund for their daughter, Yasmin.

The attorney, Bartley Crum, said Aly Khan has indicted he will not stand in the way of the glamorous movie redhead.

Miss Hayworth went to Lake Tahoe, Nev., a few days ago to establish residence. At the time she was quoted as saying she did not know whether to seek a separation or a divorce.

Now, Crum said, she has decided to sever all ties with the son of the fabulously wealthy Aga Khan, spiritual ruler over a large group of Moslems.

CUTS COSTLY REPAIRS TO THE FLAME ZONE

VALVE SEATS VALVE GUIDES VALVE STEMS CYLINDER WALLS PISTON RINGS PISTONS

The "flame zone" of your motor contains the vital power parts. Damage to these parts can result in costly repairs, and crankcase oil often fails to provide adequate protection for them. D-X Gasoline provides additional protection because, in its manufacture, a specially refined lubricant is scientifically blended with high anti-knock gasoline . . . and at no extra cost to you. In addition, D-X gives you quick starts, long mileage and smooth, knockless power. Try a tankful today—at the nearest D-X Station.

D-X Motor Oil with EXTRINOL Helps Save Repairs, Too!

D-X with Extrinol fights wear and saves repairs because Extrinol helps keep motors cleaner, protect bearings and fight sludge. Change to this tougher, safer, more economical motor oil today! See your D-X Dealer now.

HUNDREDS OF GASOLINES BUT ONLY ONE TRY A TANKFUL TODAY—ON A MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

The "SAUCER TEST" Gives You FLAMING PROOF

When you burn D-X Lubricating Gasoline and ordinary gasoline in open saucers, you can see the difference. Ordinary gasoline leaves behind a dry, hard carbon deposit. D-X leaves a smooth, oily protective film. This "saucer test" gives flaming proof that D-X provides—at no extra cost—extra protection to your motor!

Color In Home Was Club Topic

Mrs. Leslie Miller and Mrs. W. M. Wilkie were hostesses to the Bowling Green Home Extension club, Thursday, May 10. Fifteen members and three visitors were present at noon for a contributive dinner at the Beaman hall.

The president, Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin presided over the business meeting. The principal talk of the day was on "Color in the Home," demonstrated by Miss Flossie Ferguson who will complete the study at the next meeting. She requested each member to bring an illustration of a color scheme they designed for the home: rug, curtain, drapes, etc.

Mrs. L. E. Morris read a letter from the Columbia office and reported a talk given by a woman who had visited many European countries. She counseled members to be more thankful and appreciative of conditions in our land which to some seem like heaven.

In June the club will be entertained by Mrs. L. E. Morris and Mrs. Ralph Harrington. The hostesses received many nice and useful gifts. Mrs. John Rush was in charge of the game period which closed the meeting.
